SPEAKING

Your score: 90

Your scaled score is between 80 and 100. Test takers in this score range typically are unsuccessful when attempting to explain an opinion or respond to a complicated request. The response may be limited to a single sentence or part of a sentence. Other problems may include:

- severely limited language use
- minimal or no audience awareness
- consistent pronunciation, stress, and intonation difficulties
- long pauses and frequent hesitations
- severely limited vocabulary

Most of the time, test takers in this score range cannot answer questions or give basic information.

When reading aloud, test takers in this score range vary in intelligibility. However, when they are creating language, they usually have problems with pronunciation and intonation and stress when speaking. For more information, check the "Read Aloud Pronunciation and Intonation and Stress ratings."

Pronunciation: Low

When reading aloud your pronunciation is not generally intelligible.

Intonation and Stress: Low

When reading aloud your use of intonation and stress is generally not effective.

WRITING

Your score: 160

Your scaled score is between 140 and 160. Test takers in this score range typically can effectively give straightforward information, ask questions, give instructions, or make requests, but are only partially successful when using reasons, examples, or explanations to support an opinion.

When attempting to explain an opinion, their writing presents relevant ideas and some support. Typical weaknesses include:

- not enough specific support and development for the main points
- unclear connections between the points that are made
- grammatical mistakes or incorrect word choices

When giving straightforward information, asking questions, giving instructions, or making requests, their writing is clear, coherent, and effective.
